THE NO-REELS THREADS GUIDE

POST THAT SH*T!

No reels. No dancing. What to post on Threads so people start talking to you.

8 short chapters · 30-day plan in two tracks

by Vince · @weird_digital_dude

No reels were filmed in the making of this guide.

READ THIS FIRST

Read it tonight. Post tomorrow.

This guide is short on purpose. You can read it in about 25 minutes, and the 30-day plan starts tomorrow.

No reels. No dancing. No face on camera. Just text posts, real replies and one honest ask a week.

Chapter 7 has two tracks: about 30 minutes a day, or about 2 hours a week when life gets busy. Pick one. You can switch.

FROM VINCE

I lost thousands of dollars to a trading scam and fake "promoters" before anything worked. This is the guide I wish someone had handed me first. No income promises. Just what I'd do if I started again tomorrow.

— Vince

CHAPTER 01 · ABOUT 4 MIN

Why your posts get crickets.

You're not bad at this. You're posting into a room where nobody knows you yet. Here's how Threads treats small accounts, and what to do about it.

01 Conversations beat announcements

02 Replies are your biggest lever

03 Links go in your bio or a reply

04 Images often beat plain text

05 Tags and Communities reach strangers

BY THE END OF THIS CHAPTER

One real reply under a post in your lane.

01 · CONVERSATIONS

Announcements get scrolled past.

Most beginner posts are announcements: a new blog post, a new offer, a new link. Nobody owes an announcement a reply, so most get none.

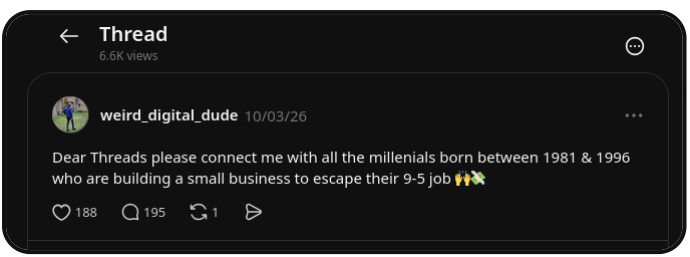

A conversation post gives people something easy to answer.

ANNOUNCEMENT

you 5h

New blog post: 7 ways to grow your affiliate business. Link in bio.

CONVERSATION · MY REAL POST

195 replies on 6.6K views.

02 · REPLIES

Replies are your biggest lever.

½ Almost half of the views on Threads come from replies, according to Meta.

+42% Average engagement on Threads when creators replied to the replies on their posts, in Buffer's 2025 data.

So the quickest way to get seen isn't a better post. It's better replies: under bigger accounts, and on your own posts. Chapter 4 turns that into a 15-minute habit.

03-05 · LINKS, IMAGES, TAGS

Three more things that help.

03 Links go in your bio or a reply

Keep the post for the conversation. People who want more will tap your bio or your first reply.

04 Images often beat plain text

In one Buffer writer's 30-day test, simple Canva graphics beat text-only posts again and again. No camera needed: chapter 3 has ideas.

05 Tags and Communities reach strangers

Add a relevant topic tag, and join a Threads Community about your topic to meet people who care about it. Meta says relevant tags help you reach them.

YOUR TURN

Leave one real reply.

DO THIS NOW

1. Find a post in your lane from an account bigger than yours.
2. Reply with something real: a tip, a question or your own experience. Not "great post".
3. Come back in an hour and answer anyone who replied to you.

FROM VINCE

When I moved from Facebook to Threads in June 2024, I spent my first week replying to people as much as posting. The more I did it, the more I saw what worked and what didn't. Then it clicked.

— Vince

CHAPTER 02 · ABOUT 3 MIN

Pick your lane in one sentence.

People follow accounts that are clearly for them. One sentence tells them whether you are.

01 Who you help

02 What you help them do

03 What they don't have to do

BY THE END OF THIS CHAPTER

Your lane line, written and in your bio tonight.

THE FORMULA

Your lane line.

WHO	I help [one kind of person]
WHAT	[get one result]
WITHOUT	without [the thing they hate].

Who: one kind of person, not "everyone". What: one result they want. Without: the thing they're scared of or sick of.

EXAMPLES

I help busy parents start a side hustle without quitting their job.

I help new affiliate marketers make their first sales without paid ads.

I help shy creators grow on Threads without showing their face.

WHY ONE LANE

Narrow is not small.

Picking one lane feels like shutting doors. It isn't. When a stranger can tell in two seconds that you're for them, they follow. When they can't, they scroll.

And it's not forever. You can change it later.

YOUR LINE PASSES IF

01	A stranger can tell if it's for them
02	It fits in your bio
03	You'd happily post about it for 30 days

FROM VINCE

I've rebranded more than once. In January 2025 I came back as "the digital mouse", a nickname my friends gave me as a kid. Now I'm the weird digital dude. Your lane can move with you.

— Vince

YOUR TURN

Put it in your bio tonight.

Your Name
@you

I help [who] [get what] without [the thing].

Follow

MINE, FOR EXAMPLE

I help new digital marketers get their first sales with text posts, not reels.

DO THIS NOW

1. Write your lane line with the formula.
2. Read it out loud. If it sounds like a robot wrote it, say it the way you'd say it to a friend.
3. Put it in your Threads bio tonight.

CHAPTER 03 · ABOUT 6 MIN

Five post types that start conversations.

Every post you write from here on is one of these five. Each one gives people a reason to reply.

01 The pitfall story

02 Proof of process

03 The honest opinion

04 The question

05 The weekly ask

BY THE END OF THIS CHAPTER

Tomorrow's pitfall story, written and ready to post.

TYPE 01 · THE PITFALL STORY

Tell them what you got wrong.

A mistake you made and what you do now. The easiest post to write: you already lived it.

↓ MISTAKE	I spent [time] doing [the thing].
→ FIX	Now I [what you do instead].
? QUESTION	What did you get wrong when you started?

EXAMPLE

you 2h

Posted every day for a month, barely a reply. My mistake: I never replied to anyone. Now I do 15 minutes of replies first. What did you get wrong when you started?

NO-CAMERA IMAGE A screenshot of an old post with zero replies.

TYPE 01 · A REAL ONE

My worst pitfall.

weird_digital_dude

October 2023: a stranger DM'd me screenshots of the money they'd made trading. I was desperate, so I signed up. My $500 "grew" to $2,100. To withdraw, I had to deposit $200 more. Then more. Then they blocked me. About $3,000, gone. If a stranger DMs you screenshots of money, block them. What's the worst DM you've ever gotten?

WHY IT WORKS

01 Specific
A date, the amounts, what happened.

02 Useful
It helps someone avoid the same trap.

03 It ends with a question
One that anyone can answer.

TYPE 02 · PROOF OF PROCESS

Show the work, not the money.

Post what you did this week: posts, replies, conversations, one lesson. Never income. You don't need any to post this.

THIS WEEK	I posted [x] times and replied to [y] people.
I NOTICED	[one thing that surprised you]
? QUESTION	What are you working on?

EXAMPLE

you 2h

Week 2: 9 posts, 41 replies, 3 real conversations. Surprise: my replies got me more followers than my posts. What are you working on this week?

NO-CAMERA IMAGE	A screenshot of this week's numbers in your notes app.

TYPE 03 · THE HONEST OPINION

Say what you actually think.

Opinions start conversations. Rage bait starts fights. The difference: you explain why, and you'd say it to someone's face.

OPINION	Unpopular opinion: [common advice] is wrong for beginners.
WHY	Here's why: [your reason].
? QUESTION	Agree or disagree?

EXAMPLE

you 2h

Unpopular opinion: another course won't fix your sales. Talking to the people who already follow you will. Agree or disagree?

NO-CAMERA IMAGE	A photo of your desk with the opinion on a sticky note.

TYPE 04 · THE QUESTION

Ask something people can answer in a line.

The best questions are easy to answer and a little personal. "Thoughts?" isn't a question.

QUESTIONS THAT WORK

01	What's the hardest part of [their problem] for you right now?
02	[A] or [B]? Tell me why.
03	What's one thing you wish you'd known when you started?
04	Finish this sentence: I'd post more if…

you 2h
If you could only use one app to grow online, which would it be, and why?

NO-CAMERA IMAGE A plain card with the question in big letters. Canva works.

TYPE 05 · THE WEEKLY ASK

Once a week, say what you sell.

One post a week where you say who you help, what you offer and where to find it. No tricks and no "comment GUIDE". Chapter 5 shows you how.

WHO	If you're [who] and [problem]...
WHAT	I made [your offer]: [what's in it].
WHERE	It's in my bio.

EXAMPLE

you 2h

If you're a busy parent trying to start something online: I made a free checklist of the first five things I'd do. It's in my bio.

NO-CAMERA IMAGE A screenshot of the first page of what you're offering.

NO CAMERA NEEDED

Images without your face.

Every post type above works with an image you can make in two minutes. Three kinds that work:

01 Screenshots

A note, an old post, your tracker, a DM with the names hidden.

02 Desk photos

Your setup, a notebook page, a sticky note.

03 Simple cards

One sentence, big letters, black and white. Canva works.

SKIP Stock photos and AI-made faces. They look like everyone else's.

YOUR TURN

Tomorrow: your first pitfall story.

DO THIS NOW

1. Pick one early mistake.
2. Fill in the template on page 14.
3. Post it, then do a reply block.
4. Tag @weird_digital_dude so I can see it.

FROM VINCE

After the scam, I paid strangers to promote my affiliate offer. A Facebook guy: $400, zero leads. A Fiverr seller with fake sponsors: $500. An emailer whose list got me leads, no sales and a banned account: $200. Your own posts cost nothing.

— Vince

CHAPTER 04 · ABOUT 3 MIN

The 15-minute reply block.

This is the habit that does the most work: fifteen minutes a day, and most of it isn't on your own posts.

01 Reply under 5–10 bigger accounts in your lane

02 Answer every comment on your posts within 24 hours

BY THE END OF THIS CHAPTER

Your first reply block, done today.

HOW IT WORKS

Fifteen minutes, two jobs.

01 Set a 15-minute timer.
Short on purpose, so you do it every day.

02 Find 5 to 10 bigger accounts in your lane.
Same audience as you, more followers.

03 Leave one real reply under a recent post from each.
The next page shows what a real reply looks like.

04 Answer every comment on your own posts.
Anything from the last 24 hours.

Why bigger accounts? Their posts already have the readers you want. Meta says replies help other people in that conversation discover your profile.

THE DIFFERENCE

Add something, not applause.

bigger_account 3h
What's one thing you'd tell yourself on day one of building an online business?

✗ LAZY

you 1m
Great post!! So true

✓ BETTER

you 1m
Stop buying courses for a month and talk to the people who already follow you. I wish I'd done that sooner.

GOOD REPLIES ARE

Two to four lines · a tip, a story or a question · never a link in someone else's replies.

YOUR TURN

Do your first block today.

DO THIS NOW

1. Set a 15-minute timer now.
2. Reply under 5 bigger accounts.
3. Answer every comment on yours.
4. Repeat it tomorrow.

FROM VINCE

My first online sales came right after that first week on Threads in June 2024, after months of losing money everywhere else. That's my story, not a promise. The habit is the part to copy.

— Vince

CHAPTER 05 · ABOUT 4 MIN

The weekly ask.

Once a week, tell people what you sell and where to find it. Plainly. Then go back to talking.

01 Where the link goes

02 What to write

03 Why bait backfires

04 Label your affiliate links

BY THE END OF THIS CHAPTER

Your first weekly ask, drafted for day 7.

01 · WHERE THE LINK GOES

Bio or first reply. Not the post.

Keep the post for the conversation.

OPTION A · YOUR BIO

Link in bio

For your main offer: "It's in my bio."

OPTION B · YOUR FIRST REPLY

Link in your first reply

Then reply to your own post with it.

you 2h

Busy parent trying to start something online? I made a free checklist of the first five things I'd do. Link in the reply.

you 2h

Here you go: [your link]

02 · WHAT TO WRITE

Say it once, plainly.

WHO	If you're [who] and [problem]…
WHAT	I made [your offer]: [what's in it].
NOT FOR	It's not for you if [an honest line].
WHERE	It's in my bio.

One ask a week. The other six days are for conversations. That rhythm is what makes the ask feel normal instead of salesy.

EXAMPLE

you 2h

If you're a new affiliate marketer stuck at zero sales: I made a 5-day email course on writing posts people reply to. It's not for you if you want a shortcut. It's in my bio.

03 · WHY BAIT BACKFIRES

Skip the bait.

Bait gets comments, just the wrong kind. Instagram's head, Adam Mosseri, has said Meta is trying to get engagement bait on Threads "under control".

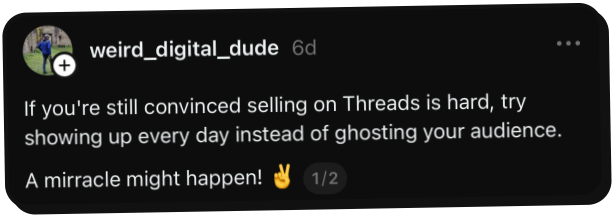

✗ BAIT	✓ A REAL ASK
"Comment GUIDE and I'll DM it to you"	"It's in my bio"
"Only 3 spots left!" when there aren't	Who it's for, and who it isn't
"This changed my life"	What's actually in it
An opinion built to make people angry	A question people want to answer

"Comment and I'll DM you" often fails anyway. A message to someone who doesn't follow you lands in their message requests, where links are switched off.

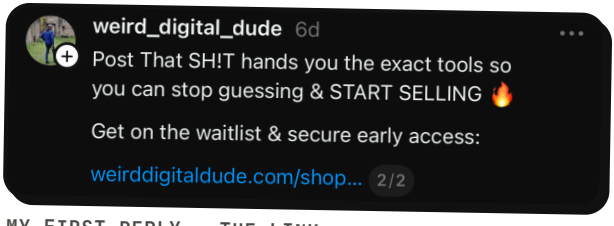

A REAL ONE

My weekly ask.

From October, while this guide had a waiting list.

THE POST · NO LINK

MY FIRST REPLY · THE LINK

WHY IT WORKS

01 The post stands on its own
A take people can reply to, with no link in it.

02 The link waits in the reply
Option B from page 27.

03 One line on what it does
Then where to get it. That's the whole ask.

YOUR TURN

Draft your ask for day 7.

DO THIS NOW

1. Fill in the template on page 28.
2. Pick where the link goes: bio or first reply.
3. Earns you money? Add "affiliate link".
4. Save it for day 7 of the plan.

AFFILIATE LINKS

If a link pays you a commission, say so in the post or reply. In the US, the FTC puts that on the person posting, and says you can't assume followers already know.

CHAPTER 06 · ABOUT 4 MIN

Posting with no results and no face.

You don't need wins or a face on camera to be worth following. You need specifics.

01 What to post before your first sale

02 Faceless, but personal

03 When friends and family see it

BY THE END OF THIS CHAPTER

A proof-of-process post with this week's numbers.

01 · BEFORE YOUR FIRST SALE

Nothing to show yet? Show that.

Nobody expects a beginner to have results. They do expect honesty. Your effort is something you can share from day one.

YOUR EFFORT NUMBERS

POSTS	REPLIES	CONVERSATIONS

Share these. Never income, and never someone else's screenshots.

ALSO GOOD BEFORE A SALE

01 What you're testing this week

02 A mistake you just made

03 A question you're stuck on

01 · REAL ONES

Before my first sale.

From this profile. Small numbers, real effort.

TYPE 02 · PROOF OF PROCESS · 19 REPLIES

TYPE 03 · THE HONEST OPINION · 4 REPLIES

02 · NO FACE

Faceless, not anonymous.

People follow people. You can be a person without being on camera.

01 Your story
Where you started, why, and what went wrong.

02 Your numbers
Effort numbers, never income.

03 Your stuff
Your desk, your notebook, your screen, the view from your window.

04 Your voice
Write like you talk. Short lines, your own words.

TIP Pick one thing people can recognize you by: a color, a phrase or a sign-off.

03 · FRIENDS AND FAMILY

When people you know see it.

Someone you know will find your posts. That's when most people stop. You don't have to.

IF THEY ASK, TRY

> "Yeah, I'm learning to sell online. I post what I'm doing so I stick with it."

01 You don't owe anyone a speech
One line is enough.

02 They're not who you're posting for
Your posts are for strangers who have the problem you solve.

FROM VINCE

When people I knew saw my posts, I left a meaningful reply and asked how they'd been and what they were up to.

— Vince

YOUR TURN

Post your effort.

DO THIS NOW

1. Count this week's posts, replies and conversations.
2. Add one thing you learned.
3. End with a question, then post it.
4. Do your reply block.

FROM VINCE

Life outside the screen got hard. Work was rough, sales were low, motivation was lower, and everyone told me to quit. I kept showing up, and I still do. That's the only trick I've got.

— Vince

CHAPTER 07 · ABOUT 3 MIN

The 30-day plan, two tracks.

A prompt for every day. Pick the track that fits your life, and switch when you need to.

01 Daily track: about 30 minutes a day

02 Light track: about 2 hours a week

BY THE END OF THIS CHAPTER

Day 1 starts tomorrow.

HOW IT WORKS

Pick your track.

DAILY TRACK · ABOUT 30 MIN A DAY

One post and one reply block, every day.

Best if you can give it half an hour on most days.

LIGHT TRACK · ABOUT 2 HOURS A WEEK

Three posts and two reply blocks a week.

Best for busy weeks, or if you work full time.

Both tracks use the same prompts, and the weekly ask is always day 7.

HOW TO READ A WEEK PAGE

01 The tag says which post type it is (chapter 3).

02 LIGHT says what the light track does that day.

03 Check the box when you've done it.

DAILY TRACK · ABOUT 30 MIN A DAY

Week 4: keep going.

Every day: one post, then a 15-minute reply block. Busy week? Do only what the LIGHT tags say.

DAY 22	PITFALL STORY	LIGHT: POST	My most expensive mistake online: ___
DAY 23	QUESTION	LIGHT: REPLIES	Finish this: I'd post more if ___
DAY 24	PROOF OF PROCESS	LIGHT: OFF	Day 24: what's working, what isn't.
DAY 25	HONEST OPINION	LIGHT: POST	Most overrated advice in [lane]: ___
DAY 26	PITFALL STORY	LIGHT: REPLIES	What I'd do differently if I restarted.
DAY 27	QUESTION	LIGHT: OFF	What's one win you had this month?
DAY 28	WEEKLY ASK	LIGHT: POST	This month in one line, then your offer.

DAYS 29 AND 30

Finish strong.

DAY 29 · FOLLOW-UP · LIGHT: POST

Go back to your best post.

Find the one with the most replies this month. Write a follow-up: what people said, and what you think now.

DAY 30 · REVIEW · LIGHT: SAME

Log your numbers.

Fill in the tracker (chapter 8). Then read your lane line again. Still true? Keep it. If not, fix it.

Then start again at week 1 with what you've learned. The prompts work the second time round, because your answers will be different.

PROMPT BANK

Stuck? Use these.

Swap any day's prompt for one of these. Same post type, new angle.

PITFALL	The first thing I'd tell a beginner: ___
PITFALL	I wasted [time] on ___.
QUESTION	What's one thing you'd never pay for again?
QUESTION	What's your favorite free tool for ___?
PROCESS	A screenshot of this week's tracker, plus one lesson.
PROCESS	What I'm testing next week: ___
OPINION	___ is harder than people say. Here's why.
OPINION	I changed my mind about ___.
ASK	The question I get most, answered. Link in bio.

04 Asks made

BY THE END OF THIS CHAPTER

A weekly reminder set, and week 1 logged.

WHY NOT VIEWS?

Views are nice. These matter more.

My views over two weeks to October 4: up 65%. Nice, but views don't tell me whether I'm doing the work. The four numbers do.

THE FOUR NUMBERS

What to count, every week.

01 Posts
Everything you published this week.

02 Replies
Replies you left, under other people's posts and on your own.

03 Conversations started
A real back-and-forth with someone, in the replies or in DMs.

04 Asks made
Your weekly asks. One a week is the goal.

Why not followers? You can't control them. You can control these four, and they're the work that leads to sales.

WHEN Same time every week. Five minutes.
